Conference Speakers

Jennifer McClure

Jennifer McClure has been speaking publicly for more than 10 years, and as a professional speaker, has had the pleasure of delivering keynotes and seminars to over 50,000 people, in 8 countries, and on 4 continents. The first part of Jennifer's career was spent as a human resources executive and executive recruiter, before turning pro as a speaker and business advisor in 2010. In 2013, Jennifer co-founded DisruptHR, a global community that provides opportunities for business leaders to share ideas, and learn strategies to facilitate better business outcomes. As CEO of both Unbridled Talent LLC, and DisruptHR LLC, Jennifer's time is now devoted to speaking, coaching, and writing. Jennifer was recently named by The Science of Digital Marketing as one of the Top 50 Keynote Speakers with The Most Online Influence.

Gregory J. Hare, Ogletree Deakins

Greg Hare has been an employment lawyer at Ogletree his entire career, ever since 1991. He assists companies with human resources and employment-related litigation matters, including wrongful termination claims, sexual harassment, employment discrimination, employment contracts, trade secrets, and non-compete agreements. He advises clients on a wide range of human resources topics, such as employee discipline and discharge, severance planning, independent contractor classifications, wage payment, family and medical leave, disability law, military leave, joint employment issues, affirmative action and reductions in work force.

Nick Vlachos, MD and Robert Carlson, MPA, Wellstar West Georgia Worx is joined by Nate Levy, Attorney, Levy, Sibley, Foreman & Speir, LLC

Levy, Sibley, Foreman & Speir, LLC provides workers' compensation legal defense throughout Georgia for employers of all sizes and specialties. The firm focuses on maintaining a standard of constant communication with clients in an effort to provide the highest degree of legal advice available. Passionate about the subject, West Georgia Worx and LSFS, LLC will present a powerful and informative program on how the growing opioid epidemic impacts employers and the community.

Kelly J. Veal, PhD, LPC, CAADC
